About Meta

Meta Writing and Education Services, LLC, is a writing, editing, and graphic layout company with specialization in the biological and ecological sciences. With over 20 years experience in science research and managing writing projects, we can take a project from conception to publication—or enter the process at any stage along the way. The company works with individuals and groups to get writing projects—both print and online—off the ground and through development with respect, integrity, and thorough attention to detail.

Services

Our services include writing, editing, and graphic layout of nonfiction materials for print and online publication, with specialization in the biological and ecological sciences.

Rosanna manages client projects and directs day-to-day operations. Her extensive experience in science, education, and publishing contribute to her ability to facilitate and complete projects designed for print and online publication. Her goal is to help individuals and groups get the word out about how amazing the world is, which we learn through science research as well as our own individual experience.
